Editorial: Our journey together continues

By Marco Giacomelli

“Non chi comincia, ma quel che persevera” - “Not those who start, but those who persevere”.

This motto, attributed to polymath genius Leonardo Da Vinci, adorns the tall ship Amerigo Vespucci, arguably the most beautiful ship in the world, which since 1931 has been serving as a training ship for generations of aspiring Italian Navy officers.

As a former Navy officer myself, I hold the value of perseverance deep, for it is the vital engine that drives every activity at IGP, be it a new strategic initiative or the relentless pursuit of excellence in service.

Market expansion and strategic alliances

IGP's journey has reached new, important destinations in 2024. Our network of independent insurers who are recognized leaders in their market keeps growing. New and existing clients demand the best possible local service in more locations both in emerging and consolidated regions.

In the last 12 months, thanks to our regional partnership with Old Mutual and regional reinsurer Africa Re, we have considerably expanded our presence in Africa, with Ghana, Malawi, Nigeria and Uganda.

We have consolidated our presence in the United Arab Emirates, which started in 2023 with our partnership with Daman for medical benefits, with HAYAH as our partner for Life benefits in the UAE and throughout the Gulf Cooperation Council region.

We are also particularly happy to be able to offer our clients and prospects the services of ICICI Prudential in India as our newest network partner for Life benefits and, last but not least, IGP is active again in the Philippines, thanks to our new cooperation with Pioneer Life.

Industry engagements

The expansion and consolidation of IGP's geographic perimeter is by definition a work in progress, but it is also a key component of IGP's value proposition across all our product lines.

I am particularly proud of the fact that for two years in a row, IGP was awarded what were arguably the largest Reinsurance to Captive programs being tendered in the market each year.

This represents not only a significant boost and diversification in our global portfolio, but also a very tangible recognition by the market: IGP today is a credible, competitive and innovative player in the rapidly growing Captive segment, offering superior service both at local and central level.

Throughout the year we have showcased our multinational employee benefits solutions at all major events in the industry, such as the IEBA Conference, the IBIS Academy, and the FERMA forum to name a few, and we have co-sponsored and contributed to global and regional events organized by the main advisors in our markets.

IGP has an enduring legacy of organizing our own events as well, which provide some of the richest content and most interactive experience for participating advisors and clients. In 2024 we hosted several IGP Forums, in key locations such as London and Hong Kong, and you can already mark your calendar for our new IGP Forum in London on May 13th, 2025.

Future outlook

Navigating the uncharted waters of the employee benefits world can be a daunting task even for the sturdiest dreadnought, but we at IGP persevere in our mission to be the partner of choice for all multinational corporations: IGP today is the employee benefits network that offers the most comprehensive range of solutions for multinational corporations, ranging from Multinational Pooling, to Reinsurance to Captive, to Coordinated Underwriting programs.

As this exciting year is coming to an end, I would finally like to thank you all for your support and trust in IGP, and I am looking forward to continuing our journey together, with each new challenge an opportunity to steer our course towards another success story.

Enjoy this newsletter, and on behalf of all of us at IGP, I wish you and your loved ones a wonderful festive season.

Country News: Belgium

Minimum supplementary pension rate rises to 2.50%

- what employers need to know

In Belgium, the Supplementary Pensions Act (WAP/LPC) mandates that deposits into supplementary defined contribution pension plans must yield a minimum return annually, ensuring that the contributions made by employers and employees into DC plans achieve a certain level of growth over time. This rate, known as the WAP/LPC rate, is recalculated yearly based on Belgian 10-year government bond (OLO) rates and must remain between 1.75% and 3.75%.

Due to persistently low interest rates, the WAP/LPC rate has been fixed at 1.75% for several years. However, starting in 2025, employers will need to guarantee a minimum return of 2.50%. This change has significant implications for employers and their pension plans.

Key distinctions

- Branch 21: For group insurance policies with guaranteed returns, the new minimum interest rate primarily applies to new premiums.
- Branch 23 & Branch 44: For these group insurance types, the new minimum interest rate typically applies to the entire pension reserve.

This distinction means that while Branch 21 group insurance policies will see the higher minimum rate mainly affecting new premiums, Branch 23 and Branch 44 policies will have the entire pension reserve subject to the new rate. This can lead to a considerable difference in final payouts.

Impact on pension plans

The increase in the minimum interest rate means higher capital must be guaranteed for employees at retirement or when transferring reserves to a new employer's pension plan. The exact impact varies for each employee, depending on factors such as the type of pension plan and the duration of their membership.

A rise in the interest rate from 1.75% to 2.50% can result in a more than 20% increase in the minimum final payout for younger employees who stay with the same employer throughout their career.

- Branch 21: These solutions offer a guaranteed return, where premiums are capitalized at a guaranteed interest rate. While additional profit sharing may be awarded annually, it is not guaranteed and depends on the insurer's results and economic conditions.
- Branch 23: Investments are made in funds without any insurer-guaranteed return, with returns based solely on investment performance.
- Branch 44: This is a hybrid of Branch 21 and Branch 23, combining the security of Branch 21 with the growth potential of Branch 23. Employers can tailor the mix of guaranteed and non-guaranteed components to meet their specific needs and objectives.

Challenges and steps for employers

For the first time in eight years, the statutory minimum return on supplementary pensions is set to rise. This presents significant challenges and opportunities for the second pillar of pension plans. Employers and HR managers need to understand the steps required to adapt and the potential impact on their pension schemes.

By staying informed and proactive, employers can ensure their pension plans continue to provide valuable benefits to their employees while meeting regulatory requirements.

1. Examine current plans: Assess your existing supplementary pension plans to understand how the new minimum interest rate will affect them.
2. Evaluate pension investments and providers: Consider the performance and flexibility of pension providers. For example, AG offers a diverse range of solutions with attractive returns.
3. Communicate with employees: Although not legally required, it is considered best practice to ensure your employees are informed about the changes and how they may impact their retirement savings.
4. Thoughtful financing: You may need to provision a financial buffer to meet the new minimum interest rate requirements.

Why choose AG as your pension provider?

AG provides a variety of investment options within Branch 21, Branch 23, or Branch 44, with a track record of strong performance, yielding returns that are considerably higher than the statutory minimum.

Branch 21: security and stability

- A guaranteed return each year, with possible profit sharing: Branch 21 policies offer a guaranteed return on premiums. The premiums are managed individually and linked to the AG Employee Benefits General Fund, which has consistently delivered stable yields. For example, the yield since January 2024 has been 1.75%. In addition to the guaranteed return, policyholders may benefit from additional annual profit sharing based on AG's financial performance.
- Attractive net total return: The average net total return on average growth through premiums in 2023 was at least 2.50%. In recent years during the low interest rate environment, the average net total return has always reached at least the level of 1.75%.
- A highly diversified asset mix: A well-diversified portfolio helps ensure stable growth and healthy cash flow, providing a balanced approach to a secure investment.

Branch 23: growth potential

- Investment flexibility: Branch 23 policies allow investment in a variety of funds without guaranteed returns, offering the potential for higher growth. Employers and employees can select funds based on their risk tolerance and financial goals.
- Professional management: Funds are managed by some of the world's best fund managers, ensuring optimal performance.
- Historical performance: Branch 23 funds have shown excellent historical returns. For instance, the Rainbow Green fund (50% bonds and 50% shares) achieved a 3.87% return over five years as of June 30, 2024.

On the AG EB Invest Dashboard, employers can monitor the performance of AG's Branch 23 funds at any time.

Ensuring a smooth transition: the path forward for employers

Navigating the upcoming changes in Belgium's supplementary pension plans requires careful planning and strategic action. By understanding the new minimum return requirements and evaluating the best options for your organization's needs, you can ensure that your pension plans continue to provide valuable benefits to your employees while meeting the new regulatory standards. AG offers robust solutions across Branch 21, Branch 23, and Branch 44, ensuring a diverse range of options to meet varying risk appetites and financial goals.

Stay informed, stay proactive, and choose AG for a reliable and high-performing pension partner.

Country News: The Netherlands

a.s.r.Vitality: For fitter, more sustainable employees

At the IGP Employee Benefits Forum in London back in April 2024, multiple sessions highlighted that well-being and vitality are key priorities for employers in today's world. Five years ago, our Dutch partner a.s.r. launched a.s.r.Vitality to help employees better understand their health and encourage them to lead more active lifestyles.

Healthier and happier employees with a.s.r.Vitality

Vitality is an international well-being program active in over 40 countries, with more than 42 million members.

a.s.r. is the exclusive partner of Vitality in the Netherlands, offering a.s.r.Vitality to employers and their employees. The program motivates both employers and employees to stay active and make healthier choices both in the short and the long term, supporting the physical, mental and financial health of employees.

This is critical, as healthy employees are the foundation of every successful organization. Higher vitality not only correlates lower absenteeism but also enhances mental and physical fitness, contributing to increased effectiveness, higher productivity, and greater job satisfaction. Therefore, a.s.r.Vitality is a valuable addition to any employer's well-being program.

a.s.r.Vitality: rewarding healthy choices

The significant health benefits of a.s.r.Vitality are crucial for both employees and employers. But why does the program work so effectively?

a.s.r.Vitality is about: knowing your health, get moving and be rewarded for actively engaging in your health. The more employees invest in their health and increase their physical activity, the greater the rewards they earn. By taking steps and raising their heart rate through physical activity, they achieve goals and enhance their Vitality Status.

In the a.s.r.Vitality Webshop, employees can redeem weekly, monthly, and status-based rewards, including discounts on a variety of products and activities. This approach is supported by research showing that rewarding healthy behaviour has a strong motivational effect:

- 23% of participants become consistently active within one year
- 72% report that Vitality has improved their lives.
- 90% state that the program has enhanced their physical health and mental well-being.

(Source: Vitality Research Worldwide)

Widely accessible starting in 2025

In today's world, these topics are increasingly pressing – not only because of the rising retirement age, which extends employees' working years, but also due to the heightened daily pressures employees face. As such, investing in additional vitality and fostering a healthier workforce is more important than ever.

Healthy employees who feel good about themselves and enjoy their work are less likely to experience absenteeism and are more likely to maintain their vitality throughout their careers. a.s.r. recognizes the urgency of contributing to a healthier society. Their experience with the program shows that employees find it an accessible and appealing way to focus on their health.

That is why a.s.r. is excited to announce that, starting in January 2025, a.s.r.Vitality will be available for all employers with health, income, or pension insurance through a.s.r., with no additional contribution required.

This expansion aims to lower participation barriers and encourages more customers to engage with the program, ultimately inspiring employees to actively improve their physical, mental and financial well-being.

Why partner with a.s.r.?

With roots dating back to 1720, a.s.r. boasts a centuries-long tradition of providing insurance solutions. a.s.r. offers a broad range of simple and transparent products and services designed to complement Social Security benefits for both consumers and commercial customers. a.s.r.'s comprehensive portfolio includes non-life, life, and income protection insurance, group and individual pensions, health insurance, travel and leisure insurance, funeral insurance, and mortgages. Additionally, a.s.r. is active in developing and operating real estate.

Each of a.s.r.'s brands offers a unique mix of products and distribution channels tailored to meet sustainability needs (<https://www.asrnl.com/about-asr/our-brands>). a.s.r. integrates sustainability across its entire organization, focusing on three core themes where it can make the greatest social impact: climate change and energy transition, vitality and sustainable employability, and financial self-reliance and inclusiveness.

As one of the largest insurers in the Netherlands, a.s.r. is committed to helping people. The company aims to fulfill several key roles within society: being a dependable insurer for its customers, a stable financial institution, a people-focused employer, and a valuable member of the community.

a.s.r. has been an IGP Network Partner since 1991.

The Vitality method has proven successful in over 40 countries. If you are interested in experiencing the benefits of a.s.r.Vitality for your organization or would like to discuss possibilities for your company, please contact your IGP Business Development Manager, or:

Insurance solutions:

- Different levels of insurance benefits available, from 'Gap' cover which provides overseas treatment where a cancer medication is not approved in an individual's home country, to full overseas treatment expenses for any oncology, heart surgery, neurosurgery or transplant procedure.

New developments in cancer treatments are advancing at a rapid pace but patient access to them is often limited, complex and costly.

Further is on a mission to change this with its new precision medicine product for cancer: Precision CancerCare.

Personalized treatment options to better fight cancer

Rather than using a generalized 'one size fits all approach' to treating cancer, precision medicine revolutionizes cancer care by enabling customized treatments to be delivered based on an analysis of the patient's specific type of cancer.

Using advanced molecular testing, such as Next Generation Sequencing, to screen the individual DNA and RNA of each tumor, precision medicine can identify the mutations and changes on a molecular level that have resulted in the cancer.

This enables physicians to determine the best approach for treating the individual's unique type of cancer. A targeted treatment plan can be developed that focuses on eliminating the malignant cells and sparing the healthy ones, resulting in fewer side effects and a better quality of life for the patient both during and after treatment.

Precision CancerCare™

A high-value, high-impact full solution for their clients and employees that provides a personalized approach to cancer care.

Here's how it works:

- Further works with the world's most advanced laboratories and precision medicine experts for molecular profiling of cancer; results of the testing are provided in an Expert Clinical Report.
 - Case Navigators work with the patient throughout the treatment journey, from diagnosis to personalized treatment to ensure timely access to the most effective cancer treatments.
 - The Case Navigator arranges for a tissue sample to be sent to a specialized lab for genetic sequencing.
 - The results are interpreted by an expert medical team made up of leading international oncologists, pathologists and genetic experts who will recommend the most appropriate treatments based on the patient's own genetic profile.

Their report will also indicate if the patient is resistant to any treatments. The patient's oncologist is invited to a peer-to-peer consultation with the expert medical team to facilitate delivery of the treatment plan.

- The Case Navigator will explain the different treatment options to the patient.

If there is no approved treatment available, the patient will be matched (if eligible) to relevant clinical trials. The Case Navigator will provide support with enrollment and travel logistics for the patient to participate in the trial.

- If the genetic testing identifies a hereditary cancer gene that can be passed on through a family, Further will test eligible family members for the presence of the mutation so that appropriate genetic counseling can be provided.
- If the policy includes insurance cover and if the best treatment is not available locally, or the patient wishes to be treated overseas, Further will arrange for the patient to have their treatment in world-leading cancer facilities.

This innovative approach underscores Further's commitment to transforming cancer care and ensuring that patients receive the most effective and personalized treatments available.

By leveraging advanced molecular profiling and collaborating with world-renowned medical experts, Further strives to enhance the quality of life for cancer patients and to significantly improve their chances of positive outcomes.

The impact of precision medicine on healthcare benefits and DE&I

As cancer is increasingly becoming a priority for employers due to its rising prevalence and significant impact on healthcare costs, precision medicine is beginning to emerge as a true game-changer for organizations, the health of their people, and their bottom line.

At the same time, organizations are looking at their benefits plans through a Diversity, Equity & Inclusion (DE&I) lens to ensure health inclusivity and equity, offering benefits that are accessible and valuable to employees across different population groups and geographies. More employers are looking to level the playing field and offer equitable benefits.

Giving your employees access to precision medicine removes geographical and eligibility barriers by providing access to a service that may otherwise be unavailable to them.

Why Precision CancerCare™ is key to positive outcomes

- 84% of advanced cancer tumors have actionable genetic alterations as determined by genetic sequencing.¹
- 1/4 of patients experience adverse side effects from standard cancer therapies.²
- 10-20% of hospitalizations for cancer patients stem from preventable treatment complications.³
